Description:

This document is the update of the Development Plan, one year after its creation, modifications are made to the general master plan, which is published under the name 'Adjusted Development Plan91,' and still represents the version used today after 10 years. Certainly, there are no drastic differences compared to the previous plan, but upon careful comparison, several modified elements stand out. For example, the central square now takes its final shape, as well as the large school complex just north of it, which appears for the first time.
